THE DISTRICT COURT OF GUAM

AMY HILL, as Personal Representative of the Estate of David Hill, deceased, and in Amy Hill’s capacity as an Individual,

Plaintiff,

vs.

ASSURANCEFORENINGEN SKULD
(Gjensidig) and SKULD Mutual Protection and Indemnity Association (Bermuda) Ltd.,

Defendants.

CIVIL CASE NO. 15-00025

DECISION AND ORDER RE THE PARTIES’ OBJECTIONS TO THE
MAGISTRATE JUDGE’S REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

Before the court are Defendants’ Objection to Report & Recommendation (ECF No. 77), Plaintiff’s Objections to the Report & Recommendation (ECF No. 81), and Plaintiff’s Motion to Strike Defendant’s Memorandum in Support of its Motion to Dismiss (ECF No. 71). The Magistrate Judge’s Report and Recommendation (“Report”) recommends that this court deny Defendants’ Motion to Dismiss (ECF No. 23), but stay the action pending arbitration of the parties’ claims in Norway. R & R at 25, ECF No. 73. After reviewing the parties’ submissions, and relevant caselaw and authority, the court hereby ACCEPTS in part and MODIFIES in part the conclusions within the Report and DISMISSES this case under the doctrine of forum non conveniens for the reasons stated herein.

1 I. BACKGROUND

2 A. Factual Background.

3 Defendants Assuranceforeningen Skuld (Gjensidig) (“Skuld I”)¹ and Skuld Mutual 4 Protection and Indemnity Association (Bermuda) Ltd. (“Skuld II”)² are “[a]ssociations of 5 shipowners formed as a [c]lub to reimburse themselves, in accordance with the Skuld [Protection 6 and Indemnity (“P&I’s”)] Rules of Cover, for certain liabilities that they, as shipowners, have 7 incurred.”³ Jonathan Hare (“Hare”) Decl. at ¶ 1, ECF No. 25. Members of Skuld I automatically 8 become members of Skuld II. Id. “[M]embership in Skuld is open to shipowners, operators, 9 disponent owners, insurers and charterers of ships.” Id. at ¶ 3. The Association’s purpose is to 10 provide “mutual insurance against liabilities and losses incurred by members in direct connection 11 with the operation of the entered vessels. When the shipowners incur losses or liabilities which 12 are covered by the [r]ules, they may obtain indemnity from the [c]lub after satisfying the 13 liabilities by payment.” Id.

14 The F/V MAJESTIC BLUE (the “Vessel”) was entered with Skuld for the policy year 15 February 20, 2010, through February 20, 2011. Mona Eivindsen (“Eivindsen”) Decl. at ¶ 2, ECF 16 No. 27. “The member was Majestic Blue Fisheries, LLC [(“Majestic Blue”)], the owner of the 17 [Vessel], which had a principal place of business in Piti, Guam.” Id. The Vessel was entered 18 with Skuld through a broker in London, Besso Insurance Group Limited (“Besso”). Id. at ¶ 3; 19 see also Hare Decl. at ¶5, ECF No. 25 Skuld accepted the Vessel “as an entered vessel,” 20 Majestic Blue was accepted as a member of Skuld, and Skuld issued a Certificate of Entry.

4 B. Procedural History.

5 1. Previous Lawsuits.⁵

6 Plaintiff Amy Hill (“Hill”) filed suit in Florida on October 26, 2010, and Majestic Blue

2 2. The Current Lawsuit.

3 On August 6, 2015, Hill filed a Complaint alleging a single “Direct Action” claim against 4 Skuld. Compl. ¶ 36, ECF No. 1.⁶ The Complaint asserts that Hill requested payment of the 5 Amended Judgment from Majestic Blue, but that “Majestic Blue has failed and/or refused to pay 6 the [Amended] Judgment and has appealed the rulings of this Court but posted no security with 7 the Court to stay execution.” Id. at ¶¶ 32-33. Hill also maintains that Skuld has refused to 8 respond and pay the Judgment, and has also failed to provide security to stay execution of the 9 judgment.” Id. at ¶ 34.

10 Hill filed a Motion for Entry of Default on October 6, 2015, but withdrew the motion on 11 October 8, 2015. See ECF Nos. 16 and 18.⁷

12 a. The Underlying Motion to Dismiss.

13 Skuld moved to dismiss Hill’s claims on numerous grounds. First, Skuld argued that 14 Hill’s Complaint must be dismissed for failure to serve process under FRCP 12(b)(5). Mem. P.
15 & A.’s in Supp. Mot. Dismiss at 4, ECF No. 24. Second, Skuld challenged this court’s personal 16 jurisdiction over Skuld. Id. at 10-11. Third, Skuld maintained that Hill’s complaint must be 17 dismissed under FRCP 12(b)(6) because Hill cannot state a claim for a “direct action” because 18 no specific facts are pleaded supporting the contention that the policy was issued or delivered on 19 Guam rather than London. Id. at 16-17. Fourth, Skuld asserted that the suit should be dismissed 20 under the doctrine of forum non conveniens. Id. at 18. Finally, Skuld stressed that Guam law

22 ⁶ The Complaint was filed by Hill’s Florida-based counsel without first seeking pro hac vice admission as 23 required by this court’s applicable rules. This court set a hearing “to address the issue of counsel’s apparent failure to comply with this court’s General Rule 17.1(d) regarding [pro hac vice] admission. See Order, ECF No. 3. Hill’s Florida counsel subsequently associated with local counsel. See Order, ECF Nos. 12-14.

24 ⁷ Email correspondence between the parties the day the motion was withdrawn evidences that Skuld “reserve[ed] all rights and defenses.” See Reply at Ex. 3 (Email correspondence between counsel Mr. Rodney Jacob and Mr. Jon Visosky, Oct. 8, 2015), ECF No. 42-4.

1 and the New York Convention compel Hill to arbitrate her claims against Skuld in Oslo, Norway
2 because Skuld’s rules pertaining to direct actions contain an arbitration and forum selection 3 clause. Id. at 21.⁸

4 In Opposition, Hill argued service of process on the Director of Revenue and Taxation 5 and Attorney Elyze Iriarte (“Iriarte”) was appropriate. Opp’n at 4, 7, ECF No. 39.⁹ Next, Hill 6 maintained that this court has personal jurisdiction over Skuld because the three prong personal 7 jurisdiction test is satisfied. Id. at 9-18. Hill also stressed that she pleaded all necessary 8 elements for a “direct action” claim under Guam law, and set forth “sufficient allegations to 9 survive Skuld’s generalized arguments.” Id. at 19.

10 As to Skuld’s forum non conveniens argument, Hill asserted that Guam is an adequate 11 forum, that Skuld failed to show that Norway is an adequate forum, and that the public and 12 private interest factors weigh against dismissal. Id. at 21-28. Finally, Hill disputed Skuld’s 13 assertion that her claims are subject to arbitration because Skuld’s arbitration clause improperly 14 seeks to create a prospective waiver of a decedent seaman’s rights under the policy. In 15 particular, she argues that the arbitration clause improperly seeks to eradicate statutory 16 protections under the Jones Act, Death on the High Seas Act, and under Guam’s direct action 17 statute. Id. at 28-35. Hill also asserted that Skuld waived their right to arbitrate when the default 18 motion was withdrawn because Skuld failed to reserve rights to move to compel arbitration 19 during the parties’ negotiations to withdraw the Motion for Entry of Default. Id. at 29.

20 Skuld filed their reply on December 15, 2015. Reply at 2-7, ECF No. 41. They reiterated 21 their argument that they are not subject to personal jurisdiction in Guam because they never 22 purposefully availed themselves of Guam law, and it would be unreasonable to exercise

23 ⁸ Both the United States and Norway are signatories to the New York Convention. 21 U.S.T. 2517, 330

⁹ Iriarte’s firm was listed as a “correspondent” for Skuld. See Iriarte Decl. ¶ 2, ECF No. 29.

1 jurisdiction over Skuld. Id. at 7. Unlike many insurance providers, Skuld provided an 2 “indemnity” or “pay to be paid” policy rather than an ordinary “liability policy” found in cases 3 relied upon by Hill. Id. at 8-9. Additionally, with respect to the forum non conveniens argument, 4 Skuld urged that Hill failed to address the factor relating to futility because any judgment by this 5 court would be unenforceable in Norway. Id. at 11 (citation omitted). Finally, Skuld argued that 6 the authority Hill relied upon to support a public policy defense to the arbitration clause under 7 the New York Convention was overruled. Id. at 13. Skuld further argued that any arguments 8 relating to the Jones Act are misplaced because this is not a Jones Act case, and that Skuld never 9 waived their right to arbitrate merely by negotiating to lift the default in exchange for the right to 10 file a responsive motion or pleading. Id. at 15 (citation omitted).

11 b. The Motion to Strike.

12 On March 16, 2016, a month-and-a-half after the Magistrate Judge conducted the January 13 28, 2016 hearing on the Motion to Dismiss, Hill filed a Motion to Strike Skuld’s Motion to 14 Dismiss claiming new evidence was uncovered. Mot. Strike, ECF No. 71. The Motion was 15 premised on the argument that Skuld should be judicially estopped from denying coverage 16 because they chose to renew a policy in February of 2016, for Pacific Breeze Fisheries, LLC, 17 despite arguing that coverage to Pacific Breeze Fisheries, LLC and Majestic Blue Fisheries, LLC 18 were subject to a denial of coverage because those entities engaged in false claims for fishing 19 licenses. Id. at 5. Hill further asserted that Skuld’s Letters of Undertaking admitted to coverage, 20 and its Reservation of Rights letter waived any rights to reserve defenses to coverage. Id. at 6-7.

21 Skuld first argued that the motion was frivolous because only pleadings, not motions, are 22 subject to motions to strike. Opp’n Mot. Strike, at 1, ECF No. 75 (citing Sidney-Vinsein v. A.H.
23 Robins Co., 697 F.2d 880, 885 (9th Cir. 1983)). Second, Skuld asserted that they never concealed 24 the fact that they continued to insure Pacific Breeze, LLC. Id. at 1-2. Third, Skuld contended

1 that continued coverage of the Pacific Breeze, LLC is irrelevant because it does not show that 2 Skuld engaged in “continuous and systematic activity” in Guam for specific jurisdiction 3 purposes. Id. (citations omitted). No Reply was filed.

4 c. The Report and Recommendation.

5 On April 4, 2016, the Magistrate Judge issued his Recommendation regarding Skuld’s 6 motion to dismiss (ECF 73). The Report recommends as follows:

7 (1) that the Chief Judge find that service of process was improper, but in lieu of 8 dismissal, the proper remedy would be to quash said service and order Plaintiff to properly serve Defendants within a reasonable time period;

9 (2) that the Chief Judge deny the motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction;

10 (3) with regard to the direct action claim, that the Chief Judge stay these 11 proceedings until the appeals pending in the Ninth Circuit in CV 11-00032 and CV 11-00034 are resolved;

12 (4) that the Chief Judge deny the motion to dismiss based on forum non conveniens; and

13 (5) that the Chief Judge stay this proceeding and compel the Plaintiff to arbitrate 14 her claim in Norway, but only after (a) proper service has been made on the Defendants and (b) the pending appeals are resolved.

15 R. & R. at 25, ECF No. 73.

16 d. The Parties’ Objections to the Report and Recommendation.

17 i. Skuld’s Objections.

18 Skuld objects to the Report’s recommendations, arguing that: (1) the Magistrate Judge 19 improperly applied the specific personal jurisdiction test; (2) the Magistrate Judge should have 20 recommended dismissal under FRCP 12(b)(6), because he acknowledged that Hill failed to 21 allege that Majestic Blue, LLC was insolvent but concluded that whether Majestic Blue, LLC’s 22 insurance policy was “delivered” on Guam is a factual dispute for trial; and (3) the Magistrate 23 Judge’s forum non conveniens analysis misapplied certain public interest facts and gave undue 24 deference to Hill’s choice of forum. Skuld Obj. R. & R. at 4-10, ECF No. 77.

1 In response to Skuld’s Objection, Hill asserts that the Report correctly concluded that 2 Skuld was subject to specific personal jurisdiction in Guam because it successfully solicited 3 Majestic Blue, LLC, for its Protection & Indemnity coverage. Hill’s Response to Skuld’s Obj. at 4 5, ECF No. 95. Second, Hill maintains that Skuld provided an indemnification policy rather than 5 a liability policy. Id. at 8-12. Hill also contends that she sufficiently pleaded the essential 6 elements of her direct action claim because she need only plead the existence of an insurance 7 policy, while issues related to the location of issuance or delivery are questions for a finder of 8 fact. Id. at 15. Finally, Hill urges that Skuld’s request for dismissal based on forum non 9 conveniens should be denied, because “Guam [was] apparently not terribly inconvenient to 10 Skuld” when they insured Guam-based businesses and participated in the litigation in the 11 underlying case against Majestic Blue, LLC. Id. at 12. She further highlights that the standard 12 for forum non conveniens is a rigorous standard to meet, and conclusively avers that the 13 Magistrate Judge appropriately balanced the public and private interests in her favor. Id. at 3, 14 12-14.

15 ii. Hill’s Objections.

16 Hill’s primary objection is directed at the Report’s conclusion that Skuld “did not waive 17 their right to compel arbitration,” and that Hill “failed to meet her burden of proving [Skuld] 18 took any act inconsistent with their right to compel arbitration.” See R. & R. at 24, ECF No. 73; 19 see also Hill’s Obj. R. & R. at 2, ECF No. 81. She raises novel arguments, not raised before the 20 Magistrate Judge, that Skuld’s conduct in Civil Actions 10-00032 and 11-00032 waived their 21 right to arbitrate, and that “the McCarran-Ferguson Act bars this Court from compelling 22 arbitration” because it “reverse preempts the [Federal Arbitration Act].” Id. at 15.

23 In response, Skuld contends Hill’s Objections are untimely. Skuld Response to Hill Obj.
24 to R. & R. at 3-4, ECF No. 82. Skuld next argues that Hill’s Objections to the Recommendation

1 “concerning arbitration should also be rejected because her arguments are entirely new and based 2 on facts that are not in evidence.” Skuld Response to Hill Obj. to R. & R. at 5, ECF No. 82 3 (citing Borden v. Sec. of Health and Human Svcs., 836 F.2d 4, 6 (1st Cir. 1987)). As to the 4 merits, Skuld maintains there was no waiver because Skuld’s coverage obligations for Hill’s 5 judgment against Majestic Blue only arise after Majestic Blue pays the judgment and seeks 6 reimbursement, or Majestic Blue is insolvent. Skuld’s Response to Hill’s Obj. R. & R. at 2, ECF
7 No. 81. Neither event has occurred. See id. Skuld also maintains Hill’s McCarran-Ferguson 8 Act argument is irrelevant because “Guam law does not prohibit arbitration clauses in insurance 9 agreements.” Id.

10 Hill filed a Reply to Skuld’s Response to its Objections without leave of this court, 11 responding to Skuld’s arguments and asserting that this court “must” consider new arguments.
12 See Hill’s Reply to Skuld’s Response to Hill’s Obj. to R. & R. at 4, ECF No. 88. Skuld filed an 13 objection to Hill’s Reply, noting that FRCP 72(b) does not set forth any language regarding 14 replies. See Obj. to Hill’s Reply to Skuld’s Response to Hill’s Obj. to R. & R. at 1, ECF No. 90
15 (citing FRCP 72(b) (“Within 14 days after being served with a copy of the recommended 16 disposition, a party may serve and file specific written objections to the proposed findings and 17 recommendations. A party may respond to another party's objections within 14 days after being 18 served with a copy.”).

19 II. LEGAL STANDARDS

20 In reviewing a magistrate judge’s report and recommendation, the district court “shall 21 make a de novo determination of those portions of the report . . . to which objection is made.” 28 22 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1). “[T]he court may accept, reject, or modify, in whole or in part, the findings 23 or recommendations made by the magistrate judge.” Id.

24 III. DISCUSSION

1 A. Skuld’s Objection to the Report and Recommendation.

2 1. Dismissal Under the Doctrine of Forum non Conveniens.

3 “A district court has discretion to decline to exercise jurisdiction in a case where 4 litigation in a foreign forum would be more convenient for the parties.” Lueck v. Sundstrand
5 Corp., 236 F.3d 1137, 1142 (9th Cir. 2001) (citing Gulf Oil Corp. v. Gilbert, 330 U.S. 501, 504 6 (1947). “A party moving to dismiss based on forum non conveniens bears the burden of showing 7 (1) that there is an adequate alternative forum, and (2) that the balance of private and public 8 interest factors favors dismissal.” Dole Food Co. v. Watts, 303 F.3d 1104, 1118 (9th Cir. 2002).

9 The Certificate of Entry issued by Skuld to Majestic Blue states that “insurance provided 10 by the Association for the vessel is governed by the Association’s Statutes and Rules except to 11 the extent that they are modified by the special terms set out below.” Mona Eivindsen Decl. at 12 Ex. A, ECF No. 27. Skuld’s Statutes and Rules state that “any dispute between the Association 13 and any member, co-assured, affiliate, former member, or any party making a claim on the 14 Association, shall be determined by Arbitration in Oslo.” Compl. at Ex. B (Statutes and Rules at 15 47.1), ECF No. 1-2. Furthermore, “[t]he Rules and any arbitration proceedings shall be 16 governed by Norwegian Law.” Id. at 47.3.¹⁰ 17 The Magistrate Judge concluded that Skuld met “their burden of showing that Norway is 18 an adequate alternative forum,” but upon weighing the public and private interest factors 19 determined that “[b]ecause it is a close call, the court can not disturb [Hill’s] forum choice.” R.

20 & R. at 19-23, ECF No. 73.

21 Skuld asserts that the Magistrate Judge afforded undue deference to Hill’s choice of 22 forum, misapplied the forum non conveniens factors, and premised his analyses of those factors

24 ¹⁰ At the hearing, Hill raised a “contract of adhesion” argument regarding Skuld’s Statutes and Rules for the first time. The court finds that this argument was untimely, does not comply with FRCP 72, and therefore did not consider it in its decision.

1 on “attenuated” and “unsupported” determinations of fact. Skuld’s Obj. to R. & R. at 10-11, 2 ECF No. 77.

3 In response, Hill maintains “Guam is not terribly inconvenient to Skuld” because it 4 insures Guam-based vessels and “participated” in the underlying litigation through filing two 5 Letters of Undertaking. Hill’s Response to Skuld’s Obj. to R. & R. at 12-13, ECF No. 95. In 6 Hill’s view, Skuld has not met the high bar of establishing forum non conveniens, and she 7 summarily concludes that the Magistrate Judge appropriately evaluated the public and private 8 interest factors without providing any analysis. See id. at 13-14.

9 a. Adequate Alternative Forum.

10 The first inquiry in a forum non conveniens analysis is whether there is an adequate 11 alternative forum. Dole Food Co., 303 F.3d at 1118. An alternative forum is deemed adequate 12 if: (1) the defendant is amenable to process there; and (2) the other jurisdiction offers a 13 satisfactory remedy. See Piper Aircraft v. Reyno, 454 U.S. 235, 254 n.22 (1981) (noting that an 14 unsatisfactory remedy might include a forum where it is unclear that a tribunal would hear the 15 asserted claims). The Report concluded that Skuld “met their burden of showing that Norway is 16 an adequate alternative forum” because Skuld is “subject to service of process in Norway and 17 Norway also permits direct actions against insurers.” See R. & R. at 20, ECF No. 73 (citing 18 Gjelsten Decl.¹¹ at ¶¶ 12-13, ECF No. 26).

19 The Defendant does not object to this determination, and Hill fails to properly object to 20 this issue.¹² Hence, this court adopts the Report’s conclusion that Norway is an adequate

22 ¹¹ Gaute Gjelsten is an attorney licensed to practice law in Norway since 1998 and specializes in international shipping and offshore law, including practicing maritime law in Norway. Gjelsten Decl. at ¶ 1, ECF 23 No. 26.

24 ¹² Plaintiff merely “refer[ed] the Court to its briefing on the issue Defendants have not proved that Norway and Norwegian law provides Mrs. Hill with the remedies she is entitled to as a result, including but not limited to punitive damages.” Hill’s Obj. to R. & R. at 18, ECF No. 81. A party may not simply refer back to its previous briefing on an issue; an objecting party must state specific reasons the magistrate judge’s recommendation is 1 alternative forum.

2 b. Public and Private Interest Factors.

3 The next inquiry in a forum non conveniens analysis looks to various “private interest” 4 and “public interest” factors. Dole Food Co., 303 F.3d at 1118. Generally, “[t]he plaintiff’s 5 choice of forum will not be disturbed unless the ‘private interest’ and ‘public interest’ factors 6 strongly favor trial in the foreign country.” Id. (quoting Gates Learjet Corp. v. Jensen, 743 F.2d 7 1325, 1334 (9th Cir. 1984)).

8 The Magistrate Judge analyzed the private interest factors set forth in Gulf Oil Corp. v.
9 Gilbert, including:

10 [T]he relative ease of access to sources of proof; availability of compulsory 11 process for attendance of unwilling, and the cost of obtaining attendance of 12 willing, witnesses; possibility of view of premises, if view would be appropriate to the action; and all other practical problems that make trial of a case easy, expeditious and inexpensive. There may also be questions as to the enforceability [sic] of a judgment if one is obtained.

13 330 U.S. 501, 508 (1947) (superseded by statute as stated in Am. Dredging Co. v. Miller, 510 14 U.S. 443, 450 (1994) (holding that the doctrine of forum non conveniens has application beyond 15 the admiralty context)); see also Dole Food Co., 303 F.3d at 1119 (“Private interests of the 16 litigants include ease of access to sources of proof; availability of compulsory process for 17 attendance of unwilling witnesses, and cost of obtaining attendance of willing witnesses; and 18 likelihood of a fair trial.”); R. & R. at 20-22, ECF No. 73.

19 The Report also assesses public interest factors, such as: (1) “the administrative 20 difficulties flowing from court congestion;” (2) “the ‘local interest in having localized 21 controversies decided at home[;]” (3) “the interest in having the trial of a diversity case in a

22
23 incorrect. See United States v. Rudisill, 2006 WL 3147663, at *1 (D. Ariz. Nov. 1, 2006); see also Edwards v.
24 Niagara Credit Sols., Inc., 586 F. Supp. 2d 1346, 1349, 1351 (N.D. Ga. 2008) (holding that objections that simply incorporate facts and arguments from a prior brief by reference do not constitute a “‘specific written objection[] to the proposed findings and recommendation’ as required by Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 72(b)(2)”), aff’d on other grounds, 584 F.3d 1350 (11th Cir. 2009).

1 forum that is at home with the law that must govern the action;” (4) “the avoidance of 2 unnecessary problems in conflict of laws, or in the application of foreign law; and” (5) “the 3 unfairness of burdening citizens in an unrelated forum with jury duty.” Piper Aircraft Co. v.
4 Reyno, 454 U.S. 235, 241 n.6 (1981) (citing Gulf Oil Corp., 330 U.S. at 508; see also R. & R. at 5 22-23, ECF No. 73.

6 Notwithstanding these factors, “[t]he calculus changes” for a forum non conveniens 7 motion “when the parties’ contract contains a valid forum-selection clause, [representing] ‘the 8 parties’ agreement as to the most proper forum.’” Atl. Marine Const. Co. v. U.S. Dist. Court for 9 W. Dist. of Texas, 134 S. Ct. 568, 581 (2013) (quoting Stewart Org., Inc. v. Ricoh Corp., 487 10 U.S. 22, 31 (1988)). The Supreme Court noted that enforcement of a valid-forum-selection 11 clause is appropriate because it was “bargained for by the parties, [and] protects their legitimate 12 expectations and furthers vital interests of the justice system.” See id. (citing Stewart Org., 487 13 U.S. at 33 (1988) (Kennedy, J., concurring)). With that consideration in mind, “‘a valid forum-14 selection clause [should be] given controlling weight in all but the most exceptional cases.’” Id.

15 As a preliminary matter, the court notes that Hill is a nonsignatory to the underlying 16 insurance policy. This issue, however, is overcome by the doctrine of equitable estoppel.
17 “Equitable estoppel ‘precludes a party from claiming the benefits of a contract while 18 simultaneously attempting to avoid the burdens that contract imposes.’” Comer v. Micor, Inc., 19 436 F.3d 1098, 1101 (9th Cir. 2006) (quoting Wash. Mut. Fin. Group, LLC v. Bailey, 364 F.3d 20 260, 267 (5th Cir. 2004)).¹³ The Ninth Circuit has held nonsignatories bound “to arbitration 21 clauses where the nonsignatory ‘knowingly exploits the agreement containing the arbitration 22 clause despite having never signed the agreement.’” Id. (quoting E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Co.
23 v. Rhone Poulenc Fiber & Resin Intermediates, 269 F.3d 187, 199 (3d Cir. 2001)); see also 24 ¹³ The Report concluded equitable estoppel binds Hill to the arbitration clauses. See R. & R. at 24, ECF No. 73.

1 Turner v. Thorworks Indus., Inc., No. CIVS05-02653WBS KJM, 2006 WL 829142, at *3 (E.D.
2 Cal. Mar. 28, 2006) (determining that a nonsignatory plaintiff was bound to a forum selection 3 clause because their complaint necessarily relied on the franchise agreement at issue and the 4 relationships created within that agreement.).

5 Here, Hill claims she is a beneficiary of Majestic Blue’s insurance policy with Skuld, and 6 that her claim is based on Skuld’s Statutes and Rules. Compl. at ¶¶ 37-40, 45. Hill argues that 7 she “now stands in Majestic Blue’s shoes.” Hill’s Response to Skuld’s Obj. to R. & R. at 2, ECF 8 No. 95; see also Hill’s Obj. to R. & R. at 3, ECF No. 81. Therefore, Hill is held to the arbitration 9 clause of the insurance policy despite being a nonsignatory because she is attempting to enforce 10 the Statutes and Rules against the signatory Defendants. R. & R. at 24, ECF No. 73.

11 Consequently, the forum selection clause within Skuld’s Statutes and Rules adjusts the 12 typical forum non conveniens analysis in three ways.¹⁴ See Atl. Marine Const. Co., 134 S. Ct. at 13 581. “First, the plaintiff’s choice of forum merits no weight, and the plaintiff, as the party 14 defying the forum-selection clause, has the burden of establishing that transfer to the forum for 15 which the parties bargained is unwarranted.” Id. The reason for this divergence from the usual 16 analysis is because “the plaintiff has effectively exercised its ‘venue privilege’ before a dispute 17 arises.” Id. A “plaintiff must bear the burden of showing why the court should not transfer the 18 case to the forum to which the parties agreed.” Id. at 582. Second, parties’ arguments regarding 19 private interests should not be considered. *See id.*¹⁵ Third, a transfer of venue will not carry the 20

21 ¹⁴ Although Atl. Marine Const. Co. involved a 28 U.S.C. § 1404 motion for change of venue, the court 22 signaled that a forum non conveniens motion would be treated similarly. See id. (“[T]he same standards should apply to motions to dismiss for forum non conveniens in cases involving valid forum-selection clauses pointing to state or foreign forums.”). 134 S. Ct. at 582.

23 ¹⁵ The policy reasons for this detour from a traditional analysis is because:

24 When parties agree to a forum-selection clause, they waive the right to challenge the preselected forum as inconvenient or less convenient for themselves or their witnesses, or for their pursuit of the litigation. A court accordingly must deem the private-interest factors to weigh entirely in favor

1 original venue’s choice-of-law rules when a plaintiff disregards a binding forum-selection clause, 2 which may impact public-interest considerations such as the “court’s familiarity with the law that 3 must govern the action.” See id. This third consideration means that an arbitration proceeding in 4 Norway is not required to follow the laws of Guam. See id.

5 Accordingly, Skuld’s first objection to the Report’s forum non conveniens assessment is 6 correct because Hill’s choice of forum should not be afforded undue deference in this case. See 7 Skuld’s Obj. to R. & R. at 10, ECF No. 77 (citing Atl. Marine Const. Co., 134 S. Ct. at 582).¹⁶

8 iii. Private Interest Factors.

9 The parties do not object to the Report’s assessment determining that the private interests 10 weigh in Skuld’s favor. See R. & R. at 23, ECF No. 73. Even though these interests need not be 11 considered under Atl. Marine Const. Co. due to the forum and arbitration clauses present in this 12 case favoring Skuld, the Gulf Oil private interest factor relating to judgment enforceability 13 warrants further discussion.

14 “Although a United Nations convention [The New York Convention] has successfully 15 regulated enforcement of arbitral contracts and agreements since 1958, the United States, unlike 16 many European countries, is not yet a party to any treaty regarding the enforcement of 17 judgments.” Private International Law - Civil Procedure - Hague Conference Approves 18 Uniform Rules of Enforcement for International Forum Selection Clauses. - Convention on 19 of the preselected forum.

20 Atl. Marine Const. Co., 134 S. Ct. at 582.

21 ¹⁶ The Ninth Circuit has observed that even though the language of certain authority may suggest that a 22 domestic plaintiff’s choice of forum is entitled some deference, “[a] citizen’s forum choice should not be given 23 dispositive weight. . . . [I]f the balance of conveniences suggests that trial in the chosen forum would be 24 unnecessarily burdensome for the defendant or the court, dismissal is proper.” Contact Lumber Co. v. P.T. Moges Shipping Co., 918 F.2d 1446, 1449 (9th Cir. 1990) (alterations in original) (quoting Piper Aircraft, 454 U.S. at 256 n.23). The court observed that “[t]he presence of American plaintiffs, however, is not in and of itself sufficient to bar a district court from dismissing a case on the ground of forum non conveniens.” Id. (quoting Cheng v. Boeing Co., 708 F.2d 1406, 1411 (9th Cir. 1983)). Thus, even though Hill is a U.S. citizen, her forum choice is not dispositive, even under a traditional forum non conveniens analysis.

1 Choice of Court Agreements, Concluded June 30, 2005, 119 Harv. L. Rev. 931, 932 (2006)
2 (footnotes omitted). The United States courts frequently enforce foreign judgments, but “U.S.
3 judgments are not accorded the same respect abroad.” Id. at 932 n.9 (citing Kevin M. Clermont, 4 Jurisdictional Salvation and the Hague Treaty, 85 Cornell L. Rev. 89, 89 (1999) (citations 5 omitted)).

6 Foreign judgments cannot be enforced in Norway unless (1) there is a treaty providing 7 that the judgments at issue can be enforced in Norway, (2) the parties agreed to an alternate 8 venue outside of Norway, or (3) the plaintiff obtains a “Norwegian judgment to enforce the 9 provisions and terms of the foreign judgment in Norway.” See INTCP NORWAY 10.

10 The first situation does not apply in this case because the United States is not a signatory 11 to the Lugano Convention. See 10.2. Convention on Jurisdiction and the Enforcement of 12 Judgments in Civil and Commercial Matters (signed at Lugano on 16 September 1998), INTCP 13 FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF GERMANY 10.2. This treaty permits Norway to recognize and 14 enforce the decisions of foreign courts who are also signatories to the convention. See id.
15 Likewise, the second situation is inapplicable because there is no agreement between Skuld and 16 Hill or Majestic Blue to an alternate venue outside of Norway.

17 Therefore, to enforce a judgment against Skuld by this court, Hill would need to obtain a 18 “Norwegian judgment to enforce the provisions and terms of the foreign judgment in Norway.”
19 See INTCP NORWAY 10. A “foreign judgment normally is recognized by Norwegian courts, 20 with the effect that Norwegian courts make their decisions based on the first judgment, without 21 any new examination of the facts of the case.” Id. Yet it could be problematic for an action filed 22 in Norway if a judgment rendered by this court disregards the New York Convention, and 23 ignores the arbitration and forum selection clause within Skuld’s Statutes and Rules.

24 Thus, arbitrating in Norway is likely the most efficient and effective course of action for 1 the parties. Although it is not required to consider private interest factors under Atl. Marine

2 Const. Co. due to the arbitration and forum selection clauses within Skuld Statutes and Rules 3 47.1, this court adopts the Magistrate’s conclusion that private factors weigh in favor of Skuld.
4 See R. & R. at 23, ECF No. 73.

5 iv. Public Interest Factors.

6 Skuld also objects to the Magistrate Judge’s application of certain Gulf Oil “public 7 interest factors.” See Skuld’s Obj. to R. & R. at 10, ECF No. 77. In particular, Skuld argues that 8 Guam’s interest does not “trump[] both the private interest factors (which ‘favors a Norway 9 forum’) and Norway’s substantially greater public interest.” Id. (quoting R. & R. at 23, ECF No.
10 73). They assert that private interest factors generally have priority over public interest factors.
11 Id. at 11 (citing Saqui v. Pride Cent. Am., LLC, 595 F.3d 206, 214 (5th Cir. 2010) (“a court is 12 required to examine the public interest factors only if it cannot determine whether the private 13 interest factors weigh in favor of dismissal” (citation omitted)); but see Leon v. Millon Air, Inc., 14 251 F.3d 1305, 1311 (11th Cir. 2001) (quoting Satz v. McDonnell Douglas Corp., 244 F.3d 15 1279, 1283–84 (11th Cir.2001) (“even though the private factors are ‘generally considered more 16 important’ than the public factors, the better rule is to consider both factors in all cases, 17 17 Moore's Federal Practice § 111.74[3][b] at 111–221 (3d ed. 2000), and this has been our 18 approach in recent cases.”). Although this court need not consider private interest factors in light 19 of the forum and arbitration clauses, the court agrees with Skuld and finds that the public interest 20 factors should not have been given undue weight.

21 As for the first public interest factor, Skuld urges that the Report inappropriately 22 concluded that Guam’s interest in this case outweighed Norway’s interests. Skuld’s Obj. to R. & 23 R. at 11, ECF No. 73. That factor relates to “the administrative difficulties flowing from court 24 congestion.” Piper Aircraft Co., 454 U.S. at 241 n.6. The court finds this factor to be neutral as

1 there is no evidence that Guam or Norway has more congestion than the other.¹⁷

2 As for the second factor, Skuld stresses that the Report erroneously analyzed “the ‘local 3 interest in having localized controversies decided at home.” Skuld’s Obj. to R. & R. at 11, ECF 4 No. 77; see Piper Aircraft Co., 454 U.S. at 241 n.6. The Report concluded that “the District 5 Court of Guam has an interest in ensuring the collectability of its judgments” and “enforcing 6 contracts entered into by resident corporations.” R. & R. at 22, ECF No. 73.

7 Skuld highlights that Hill’s action against Skuld is essentially a breach of contract claim 8 through a direct action statute. Skuld’s Obj. to R. & R. at 11, ECF No. 77; see also R. & R. at 9 13, ECF No. 73 (noting in the personal jurisdiction section of the Report that “but for 10 Defendant’s breach of the indemnity insurance policy by refusing to pay the judgment in CV11-11 00034, this suit would not have arisen”). This is not an action to enforce a judgment against 12 Skuld because Hill has no current Guam judgment against Skuld. Id. Hill bypassed judicially 13 enforcing a judgment against Majestic Blue, and filed directly against Skuld. Although Majestic 14 Blue is a Guam corporation, Hill is a Florida plaintiff, and Skuld is a Norwegian insurance 15 company. Guam has little interest in this breach of contract action, particularly where the Guam 16 company negotiated a clause to arbitrate the dispute in Norway. See Compl. at Ex. B (Statutes 17 and Rules at 47.1), ECF No. 1-2. Thus, this factor weighs in favor of Skuld.

18 The third and fourth factors, including “the interest in having the trial of a diversity case 19 in a forum that is at home with the law that must govern the action” and “the avoidance of 20 unnecessary problems in conflict of laws, or in the application of foreign law” likewise weighs in 21 favor of Skuld because the choice of law clause in this case specifies the laws of Norway. See 22 Piper Aircraft Co., 454 U.S. at 241 n.6; see also Compl. at Ex. B (Statutes and Rules at 47.3), 23 ¹⁷ Determining that a given factor is neutral does not preclude dismissal. See Creative Tech., Ltd. v. Aztech 24 Sys. Pte., Ltd., 61 F.3d 696, 704 (9th Cir. 1995) (dismissing case based on forum non conveniens despite determining some factors were neutral.).

1 ECF No. 1-2.

2 The final factor, relating to “the unfairness of burdening citizens in an unrelated forum 3 with jury duty” weighs in favor of Skuld for the same reasons as the second factor. See Piper
4 Aircraft Co., 454 U.S. 235, 241 n.6. Although Hill has a judgment against Majestic Blue, Skuld 5 convincingly asserts that “local jurors have no interest in a dispute among foreign parties to an 6 insurance contract dispute that is governed by Norwegian law and enforceable through 7 arbitration in Norway.” See Skuld’s Obj. to R. & R. at 11, ECF No. 77. Furthermore, as stated 8 above, any judgment entered by this court may not be honored by a Norway court. Therefore, 9 this final factor weighs in favor of Skuld.

10 The public interest factors collectively weigh in favor of dismissal. Moreover, Hill has 11 not met her “burden” of showing that “transfer to the forum for which the parties bargained is 12 unwarranted” as required by Atl. Marine Const. Co., 134 S. Ct. at 581. Finally, arbitrating in 13 Norway is likely the most efficient and effective course of action for the parties. Therefore, this 14 action is dismissed under the doctrine of forum non conveniens, and the parties should arbitrate 15 their dispute in Norway.

16 c. The Forum Non Conveniens Determination Moots Skuld’s Additional 17 Arguments and All of Hill’s Arguments Unrelated to Arbitration.

18 A jurisdiction question must ordinarily precede merits determinations in dispositive 19 orders, but “there is no mandatory sequencing of jurisdictional issues.” Sinochem Int’l Co. v.
20 Malaysia Int’l Shipping Corp., 549 U.S. 422, 431–32 (2007) (quoting Ruhrgas AG v. Marathon
21 Oil Co., 526 U.S. 574, 584 (1999); see also Steel Co. v. Citizens for Better Environment, 523 22 U.S. 83, 93–102 (1998). This “court has leeway to choose among threshold grounds for denying 23 audience to a case on the merits.” Id. Dismissing a case based on “forum non conveniens 24 dismissal ‘den[ies] audience to a case on the merits’” because “it is a determination that the merits should be adjudicated elsewhere.” Id. (quoting Ruhrgas, 526 U.S., at 585) (citations

1 omitted). Thus, “[a] district court . . . may dispose of an action by a forum non conveniens
2 dismissal, bypassing questions of subject-matter and personal jurisdiction, when considerations 3 of convenience, fairness, and judicial economy so warrant.” Id.

4 Therefore, this court MODIFIES the Report’s recommendation to deny the motion to 5 dismiss based on forum non conveniens and decline to reach the parties’ additional personal 6 jurisdiction and merits arguments due to “considerations of convenience, fairness, and judicial 7 economy.” See Sinochem Int’l Co. v. Malaysia Int’l Shipping Corp., 549 U.S. 422, 431–32 8 (2007). Although Hill is eager to recover her judgment against Majestic Blue, the most 9 economical and swift course of action is arbitration in Norway as required by the policy she 10 seeks to enforce. Skuld’s additional arguments are moot.

11 B. Hill’s Motion to Strike.

12 Turning to Hill’s Motion to Strike, only pleadings, not motions, are subject motions to 13 strike under FRCP 12(f). Sidney-Vinsein v. A.H. Robins Co., 697 F.2d 880, 885 (9th Cir. 1983).
14 Consequently, Hill’s Motion to Strike Skuld’s Motion to Dismiss is DENIED.¹⁸

15 C. Hill’s Objection to the Report and Recommendation.

16 Hill’s primary objection is directed at the Magistrate Judge’s recommendation to compel 17 arbitration. See Hill’s Obj. R. & R. at 2, ECF No. 81. She raises a new “waiver” theory, and 18 asserts that the McCarran-Ferguson Act “reverse preempts the [Federal Arbitration Act].” Id. at 19 2, 18. In response, Skuld contends Hill’s Objections are untimely and based on new facts not in 20 evidence. Skuld Response to Hill Obj. to R. & R. at 3-5, ECF No. 82 (citing Borden., 836 F.2d 21 at 6).¹⁹ The argument raised in Opposition to Skuld’s Motion to Dismiss asserted that Skuld

22 ¹⁸ The arguments raised in the Motion to Strike do not impact this court’s forum non conveniens analysis, 23 nor were they reiterated in Hill’s Objection.

24 ¹⁹ Hill’s Objections were timely because this court issued a standing order that the extension within FRCP 6 is afforded to parties consenting to electronic service. See District Court of Guam General Order 13-0003 at 16, Apr. 17, 2013 (referring to former FRCP 6(e)), but noting that “the three additional days allowed for responding to 1 waived its right to arbitrate when it negotiated to avoid a default rather than its new argument 2 that Skuld's "Letters of Undertaking" or lack of a "reservation of rights letter" resulted in a 3 waiver of arbitration. See Skuld's Response to Hill's Obj. to R. & R. at 7, ECF No. 82; see also 4 Hill's Opp'n at 33-34, ECF No. 39 ("Skuld has waived any possibility of compelling arbitration 5 when it failed to reserve the right to file a motion to compel arbitration after it went into default 6 and then negotiated a deal to lift the default.").²⁰

7 1. Enforceability of the Arbitration Agreement.

8 Courts generally analyze four factors to determine whether to enforce an arbitration 9 agreement under the Convention on the Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Arbitral 10 Awards (the "New York Convention"). Balen v. Holland Am. Line Inc., 583 F.3d 647, 654 (9th 11 Cir. 2009) (citations omitted).²¹ The Magistrate Judge concluded that these requirements are met 12 in this case and also noted the "liberal federal policy favoring arbitration agreements." R. & R.
13 at 23-24, ECF No. 73²² (citing AT&T Mobility LLC v. Concepcion, 563 U.S. 333, 339 (2011)).

15 service by mail shall also apply to electronic service."). Hill's filings were within this three-day extension period.

16 ²⁰ As to the merits, Skuld maintains there was no waiver because Skuld's coverage obligations for Hill's 17 judgment against Majestic Blue only arise after Majestic Blue pays the judgment and seeks reimbursement, or 18 Majestic Blue is insolvent. Skuld's Response to Hill's Obj. R. & R. at 2, ECF No. 82. Neither event has occurred.
19 See id. Skuld also maintains Hill's McCarran-Ferguson Act argument is irrelevant because "Guam law does not 20 prohibit arbitration clauses in insurance agreements." Id.

18 ²¹ These factors require:

19 [T]hat (1) there is an agreement in writing within the meaning of the Convention; (2) the 20 agreement provides for arbitration in the territory of a signatory of the Convention; (3) the 21 agreement arises out of a legal relationship, whether contractual or not, which is considered 22 commercial; and (4) a party to the agreement is not an American citizen, or that the commercial 23 relationship has some reasonable relation with one or more foreign states.

22 Balen v. Holland Am. Line Inc., 583 F.3d 647, 654-55 (9th Cir. 2009) (quoting Bautista v. Star Cruises, 396 F.3d 23 1289, 1294-95 (11th Cir. 2005)).

23 ²² The Report applied the factors to this case as follows:

24 As noted by Defendants, these four requirements are met in this case. First, there is an agreement in writing within the meaning of the Convention. This written agreement is set forth in Skuld's Statutes and Rules as appended as Exhibit B to the Plaintiff's Complaint. Second, the agreement

1 The Report further concluded that the doctrine of equitable estoppel binds Hill to the 2 arbitration clause even though she is a nonsignatory. Id. at 24 (citing Comer, 436 F.3d at 1101 3 (quoting Wash. Mut. Fin. Group, LLC v. Bailey, 364 F.3d 260, 267 (5th Cir. 2004) 4 (nonsignatories are bound “to arbitration clauses where the nonsignatory ‘knowingly exploits the 5 agreement containing the arbitration clause despite having never signed the agreement.’” 6 (quoting See E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Co., 269 F.3d at 199)).

7 Hill offers no objection to the Report’s equitable estoppel conclusion, or the Magistrate’s 8 Judge’s conclusion that the requirements of Balen v. Holland are met in this case. Hence, the 9 court ADOPTS this recommendation by the Magistrate Judge, and declines to hear Hill’s newly 10 raised arguments for the reasons stated below.

11 2. Hill’s Newly Raised Arguments and Evidence.

12 Skuld argues that Hill’s Objections to the Recommendation “concerning arbitration 13 should . . . be rejected because her arguments are entirely new and based on facts that are not in 14 evidence.” Skuld’s Response to Hill Obj. to R. & R. at 5, ECF No. 82 (citing Borden, 836 F.2d 15 at 6). In Hill’s Reply, filed without leave of this court, she asserts that “[a] district court must 16 review any argument raised by a party seeking review of a magistrate judge’s recommendation, 17 regardless of whether the party made that argument before the magistrate judge.” Hill’s Reply to 18 Skuld’s Response to Hill’s Obj. to R. & R. at 4, ECF No. 88 (citing United States v. George, 971 19 F.2d 1113, 1118 (4th Cir. 1992) (“We believe that as part of its obligation to determine de novo 20 any issue to which proper objection is made, a district court is required to consider all arguments 21 directed to that issue, regardless of whether they were raised before the magistrate.” (footnote 22 provides for arbitration in Norway. See Rule 47.1 (“Unless otherwise agreed, any dispute between 23 the Association and . . . any party making a claim on the Association, shall be determined by 24 Arbitration in Oslo.”), Statutes and Rules, Ex. B to Compl. ECF No. 1-2. Third, this agreement arises out of an insurance contract which is a commercial legal relationship. Finally, Assuranceforeningen Skuld is not an American citizen.

R. & R. at 23-24, ECF No. 73.

1 omitted)).

2 The Ninth Circuit, however, expressly declined to adopt the Fourth Circuit’s approach to 3 this issue. See United States v. Howell, 231 F.3d 615, 621 (9th Cir. 2000). Instead, the Ninth 4 Circuit held that “a district court has discretion, but is not required, to consider evidence 5 presented for the first time in a party’s objection to a magistrate judge’s recommendation.” Id.
6 The court reasoned that requiring the district court to consider evidence not previously 7 “presented to the magistrate judge would effectively nullify the magistrate judge’s consideration 8 of the matter and would not help to relieve the workload of the district court.” Id. at 622.

9 A district court likewise has discretion to bar “arguments raised for the first time on 10 objections to a magistrate’s findings and recommendations absent exceptional circumstances.”
11 Friends of the Wild Swan v. Weber, 955 F. Supp. 2d 1191, 1194 (D. Mont. 2013), aff’d, 767 F.3d

13 638–39 (9th Cir. 1988) (overruled on other grounds, specifically with respect to the appropriate 14 mechanism for conflict resolution between panel decisions in en banc decisions)). “[O]bjections 15 to findings and recommendations are not intended to serve as a party’s ‘second bite at the 16 apple.’” Lintz v. Potter, No. 2:09-CV-01907 GEB, 2012 WL 9034131, at *1 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 13, 18 magistrate and, if unsuccessful, to change their strategy and present a different theory to the 19 20 ²³ The Eastern District of California noted that considering new evidence could encourage gamesmanship and presentation of a partial record to the Magistrate Judge:

21 If this court were to consider new evidence on objection to the Magistrate Judge’s Findings and 22 Recommendations, there would be nothing to prevent the parties from presenting a partial record 23 to the Magistrate Judge, wait to see if the recommended decision is against them, and then present whatever evidence they need to overcome the defects pointed out by the Findings and Recommendations. If that were to be the procedure followed, this court would be better off hearing the motion in the first place. While the parties might not object to that procedure, it would neither assist the court nor make the best use of the magistrate judges.

24 Lintz, 2012 WL 9034131, at *1 (quoting Galik v. Nangalama, No. CIV. 2:09–0152 WBS KJN (PC), 2012 WL

1 district court would frustrate the purpose of the Magistrates Act.” Greenhow, 863 F.2d at 638. It 2 is unlikely that “the Magistrates Act was intended to give litigants an opportunity to run one 3 version of their case past the magistrate, then another past the district court.” Id.

4 This approach is in line with the traditional rule barring new arguments for the first time 5 on appeal, “absent exceptional circumstances or a convincing explanation for the failure to 6 present them to the court below.” Id. (citations omitted). Therefore, this court has the discretion, 7 but is not required, to hear new arguments raised by Hill.

8 This court declines to consider Hill’s new arguments regarding waiver and reverse 9 preemption because doing so would frustrate the purpose of the Magistrates Act, and would 10 encourage gamesmanship during proceedings before the Magistrate Judge. This court has only 11 two judges: a magistrate judge and the undersigned chief judge. The Magistrate Judge’s services 12 are critical to the function of this court. Considering new evidence and arguments would not 13 help relieve the workload of this court and would reduce the Magistrate Judge’s role “to that of a 14 mere dress rehearsal if a party were allowed to feint and weave at the initial hearing, and save its 15 knockout punch for the second round.” See Howell, 231 F.3d at 622 (quoting Paterson-Leitch 16 Co. v. Massachusetts Mun. Wholesale Elec. Co., 840 F.2d 985, 991 (1st Cir. 1988)).

17 Furthermore, considering new arguments and evidence would be particularly 18 inappropriate in this case because Hill has not claimed “exceptional circumstances” to justify or 19 excuse her failure to make these arguments before the Magistrate when opposing the Motion to 20 Dismiss. See Weber, 955 F. Supp. 2d at 1194 (citing Greenhow, 863 F.2d at 638–39). Hill has 21 failed to seek leave of court to raise new arguments several times, including those in her stricken 22 sur-reply,²⁴ her Motion to Strike, her Objections to Report and Recommendation,²⁵ and her

23
24 ²⁴ “District courts have the discretion to either permit or preclude a surreply.” See Garcia v. Biter, 195 F.
Supp. 3d 1131, 1134 (E.D. Cal. 2016) (citation omitted); see also Harkey v. U.S. Bank, N.A., No. 2:14-CV-00177-RFB, 2015 WL 300271, at *1 (D. Nev. Jan. 21, 2015) (“Surreplies are highly disfavored.”).

1 Reply to Defendant's Response to Plaintiff's Limited Objections to Report &
2 Recommendations.²⁶ See ECF Nos. 58, 71, 81, 88. This strategy is unfair to the opposing party
3 and the court. Consequently, these new arguments will not be considered, and the court 4 ADOPTS the Magistrate's recommendation requiring the parties arbitrate their claims in 5 Norway.

6 IV. CONCLUSION

7 For the foregoing reasons, the court hereby MODIFIES the Report's forum non 8 conveniens determination. Norway is an adequate alternative forum and the balance of private 9 and public factors weigh heavily of dismissal on the basis of forum non conveniens. The court 10 also ADOPTS the Report's conclusion that the parties' dispute should be arbitrated in Norway.
11 Therefore, Skuld's Motion to Dismiss for an alternative forum is GRANTED.

12 SO ORDERED.

19 ²⁵ Hill also made conclusory "Additional Objections" that are not valid "specific written objections" to the 20 Report as required by FRCP 72(b)(2). See Hill's Obj. to R. & R. at 18, ECF No. 81. They fail to provide "any 21 analysis as to why [the Recommendations] are inaccurate," and Objections to the Report that are "[f]rivolous, 22 conclusive, or general objections . . . need not be considered by the district court." See Muegge v. Aqua Hotels &
Resorts, Inc., No. CIV. 09-00614 LEK, 2015 WL 4041313, at *2 (D. Haw. June 30, 2015) (alterations in original) (quoting Rodriguez v. Hill, No. 13CV1191-LAB (DHB), 2015 WL 366440, at *1 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 23, 2015)). Hill's arguments with respect to the stay are moot based on this court's forum non conveniens determination. Furthermore, the court will not consider Hill's counsel's numerous factual assertions at the hearing or within the moving papers that were not found within the Complaint, and were not based on any evidence or declaration within the record.

were "untimely and are deemed waived. (citing 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1); FRCP 72(b)).
